Hungary Faces New Reign of Terror by Kadar

11 Patriots Indicted for Publishing Free Newspapers

BUDAPEST (UP) — Dictator-Premier Janos Kadar opened a new campaign of terror against Hungarian intellectuals today by indicting 11 patriots for publishing and distributing free newspapers after the Nov. 4 attack by the Soviet army.

Two of the nation's better-known writers were among the 11 accused of "counter-revolutionary activities" by publishing or distributing the paper. The two writers also were accused of inciting a Dec. 4 demonstration by Hungarian women against Russian tanks.

Simultaneously, the Workers Council on the powder keg industrial island of Csepel in the Danube south of Budapest announced it was resigning in protest against interference by the Kadar government.

The Csepel council, which defiantly led the nationwide sitdown strikes against the Communist regime, took extraordinary measures to ensure that news of their new protest reached the few Western correspondents permitted in Budapest.

Workers Resign

The Workers Council at the sprawling Bejolannis electrical plant also was reported to have resigned, and other Budapest Workers Councils were expected to follow suit.

The resignations were in protest against attempts by Kadar's Reds to infiltrate and seize control of the councils that sprang into being to run the nation's industries during and after the revolt.

Exact political repercussions from the surprise move which coincided with Kadar's attack against Hungary's firebrand writers was as yet unclear.

Foreign observers had considered the councils as a group representing the strongest obstacle to Kadar's Soviet-backed attempts to throttle the last gasp of Hungary's revolution.

On the other hand, workers throughout the nation who have been loyal to the councils might refuse to follow instructions issued by Kadar's nominees.

Indictment of the 11 intellectuals was announced in this morning's issue of the official government newspaper Nep Szabadsag.

Enraged Patient Kills Doctor In Pittsburgh

PITTSBURGH (UP)—An enraged patient shot and killed his doctor and then took his own life with the same gun Tuesday. He complained to a friend he had been given the "wrong medicine."

Woo Bing, 44, under treatment for nervous and skin disorders, fired three shots to kill Dr. Fabian M. Mihelic, 43, in the general practitioner's East Liberty office. He then fired three shots at himself and collapsed on the floor while trying to reload his .38 caliber revolver.

Dr. Mihelic was dead when police arrived. Woo died shortly after arrival at a nearby hospital.

Woo had been under treatment by Dr. Mihelic since 1955 for hypertension and acne. The patient had complained to a friend, Philip Chan, that he thought the doctor ws "giving him the wrong medicine," police reported.

Two patients, a child and the doctor's nurse were in the office at the time of the slaying. Mrs. Helen Fockler, the medical assistant, told police Woo complained of "not feeling good" when he arrived.

Eight Refugees Returned by U. S.

WASHINGTON (UP)—The United States has sent eight Hungarian refugees back to Austria for giving false information to immigration officials.

The Justice Department announced the action late Tuesday as Rep. Francis E. Walter (D-Pa) charged that many Hungarian refugees admitted to the United States did not receive the thorough screening which the law he helped write requires.

Paul Chuberka

Paul Chuberka Finalist for Top Scholarship

A Monessen High School senior, Paul Chuberka, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Chuberka, of 1430 Harrison avenue, is one of the finalists in the National Merit Scholarship competition, Principal Henry Furio announced today.

The local student is among the 7,500 highest scorers on a nationwide college aptitude examination given to 162,000 seniors in 12,500 high schools on Oct. 24.

Chuberka and other finalists now face a stiff three-hour college board examination Saturday. John M. Stalnaker, president of the National Merit Scholarship Corporation, said at least 7,000 are expected to survive this hurdle.

Another finalist in the district is Myron Lepro, of Monongahela High School.

The survivors will undergo intensive screening of their leadership and extra-curricular records by a selection board, and 700 will be named about April 25 as the merit scholars of 1957. At stake are more than 700 four-year college scholarships.

The merit scholars will choose the colleges they wish to attend. They will receive scholarships

An eight - year - old Daisytown area boy died in Brownsville General Hospital last night of injuries received in a sledding accident near Clover Hill.

Hospital officials identified the youngster as Joseph Wargo, Jr., of Daisytown, R. D. 1.

Attendants said young Wargo was admitted to the hospital about 5:15 p. m. suffering severe head injuries. He died about four hours later without regaining consciousness.

The coroner's office listed the cause of death as a fractured skull and internal injuries.

The boy reportedly coasted his sled from a field onto the road and collided with an auto operated by James Sprowls, of Coal Center, R. D. 1.

$5,000 Bond Is Set for Suspect In Burglary

Judge Roy I. Carson, of Washington County court, yesterday set bond on Stephen J. Herman, a Brownsville parolee, at $5,000.

Herman was arrested last week by State Police as he was reportedly looting a Lincoln Hill service station.

He is also charged with stealing a car in Uniontown and with throwing a brick or stone through the window of St. Mary's Catholic Church in Monessen last December 31 in a burglary attempt.

Herman was paroled last February after serving more than 10 years of a 17½ to 35 year sentence in Western Penitentiary.

Earlier this week, he waived his burglary and larceny cases to court when taken before Squire Ralph Wise, of Claysville, by State Police.

Donora Man Files Accident Damages

Steve Grcich, of Donora, has filed suit in the Westmoreland County courts against Milan Andricheck, of Monessen, for damages of more than $2,500, following a traffic accident.

The complaint states that on Dec. 16, 1955, an auto operated by Grcich and a car driven by Andricheck collided on the Webster-Fellsburg Hollow Road and as a result, Grcich suffered permanent physical injuries.

Substitute for Ike Doctrine Is Proposed by House Democrats

$155,000 Borrowed by Local School District

The Monessen School Board acted on a 21-page agenda during a two-hour session last night. Six of the seven members were present.

Among the more important matters, the directors:

1. Authorized the borrowing of $155,000 from Mellon Bank to meet current expenses and debt service. The short-term loan calls for an interest rate of three per cent.

2. Made comments on a letter from Page Local 1391, United Steelworkers of America (AFL-CIO), which charged that organized teachers and janitors have been "discriminated against" by "some" members of the School Board.

3. Reassigned Armand Niccolai as head football coach of the high school for another year.

4. Hired one teacher and accepted applications for positions in the School District from four other persons.

To Borrow Money

In recommending the borrowing of $155,000, Dr. Joseph J. Pallone, superintendent of schools, said the amount will not exceed current revenues, consisting of taxes for the current year, delinquent taxes, licenses, fines and other receipts which in the judgment of the School District are collectible within the present fiscal year.

He also stated the net indebtedness of the School District, incurred without the assent of the voters, is less than two per cent of the total valuation of taxable school property. He said the total amount would not be borrowed in a lump sum but only as needed.

The board spent less than 10 minutes in commenting on the letter of Local 1391. Members of the board said they resented the fact that the letter, signed by President John Czelen, was released for publication before the board received its copy.

Some of the charges in the letter said that union teachers have been denied salary increases and seniority rights. It also charged that the board refuses to engage in "genuine, across the table, collective bargaining" with the janitors' union.

Director Alex Kachmarik, a member of the Local 1391, said:

'Charges Serious'

"These charges are very serious. It seems to me that he (Czelen) is dealing in generalities and nothing specific. Someone is trying to get a lot of publicity."

Kachmarik added that he resented the fact that the letter was released to The Independent before the School Board was aware of its contents.

"If Czelen is a sincere union man he should have scheduled a meeting with the board before making the letter public. We are not opposed to organized labor," Kachmarik said.

President John Lancas said the door is open for meetings with Czelen and all other labor leaders and unions. He termed Czelen's letter "unfair."

In another part of the lengthy letter, the union requested that a labor-management course be taught in Monessen schools. Dr. Pallone said he knows of no public school in the state with such a course. He added:

"This is an adult problem."

Wilma Lander, a teacher present at the meeting, resented another statement in the letter which said: "Is it possible that non-union educators can teach chil-

Police Question Burglary Suspects

City police yesterday questioned two suspects in connection with two thefts at Freidland's Fashion Shop, 515 Donner avenue, Monessen, earlier in the week.

However, Chief of Police Michael Kuvinka said both suspects were cleared upon questioning. He said a third was to be interrogated today.

Burglars took $228 from a cash register at the store over the weekend. They returned Monday night for $15.85.

Presbyterians in Meeting Tonight

The annual meeting of the congregation of the First Presbyterian Church of Monessen will be held tonight, beginning at 7:30, in the church at McKee avenue and Sixth street.

Church officers will be elected and numerous reports will be submitted.

The meeting will be preceded by a covered dish dinner at 6:15.

Two Monessen Business Firms Face Remodeling

Extensive remodeling programs are underway at two Monessen business firms.

They are Harold B. Cramer's Men's Wear, 523 Donner avenue, and Derby's Construction and Supply, Inc., 443 Donner avenue.

The interior of Cramer's will be completely renovated from front to back and floor to ceiling. A balcony, additional fitting rooms and marking and receiving rooms will be installed. The ceiling will be lowered.

Cramer said the remodeling program, which is expected to be completed by early March, was made with an eye towards customer shopping convenience. All merchandise wil be openly displayed in spacious display cases. The store will employe "open selling", similar to "serve yourself".

New lighting fixtures and display cases are included in the plans.

Cramer, who has been at the present location since 1935, remodeled the front of the store in 1952 and again last year.

Derby's remodeling program began last weekend and is expected to be completed in early February. The pans call for an entire new front with a new aluminum door, terrazzo floor entrance and "see-through" windows.

The canopy will extend out one foot and be trimmed with green zourite. A new sign will be installed and lighting fixtures modernized. The interior of the store will also be remodeled.

C. A. Derby, owner, is one of the pioneer businessmen of Monessen, starting with the Motz Lumber Co. in 1902.

Drinking Water Taste Blamed On Oak Leaves

PITTSBURGH (UP) — Pittsburgh's foul-tasting drinking water has been laid at the feet of Mother Nature.

Dr. Richard D. Hoak of Mellon Institute told a scientific fraternal meeting "the drinking water taste problems around here are due to the decay of natural vegetable matter."

Oak leaves, he said, are particularly potent culprits.

The scientist removed all blame from the district's steel mills.

Dr. Hoak said the bad taste and smell is probably caused by a high concentration of "phenol-type" substances. During last summer's steel strike, the concentration of the water fouler failed to decrease.

Dr. Hoak said Pittsburgh gets its water from the Allegheny River which is free of any big industrial plants, further removing mill activity as the cause of the foul taste.

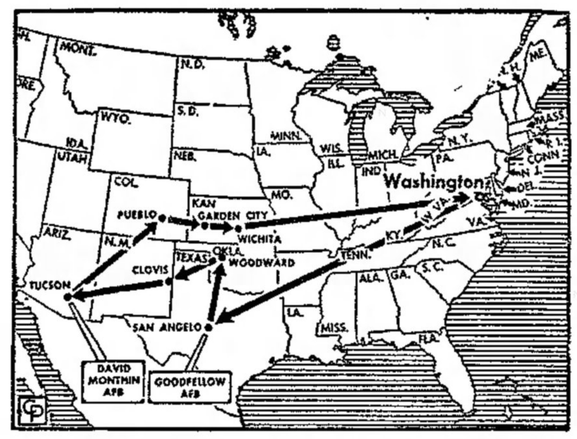
Christmas Tree Pickup Schedule

Used Christmas trees will be picked up during the regular garbage collections, John E. Kotch, Jr., director of streets and public safety, said today.

Residents are asked to place the trees beside their refuse cans.

No More Luxuries

LONDON (UP)—Radio Moscow said today that television sets are a luxury in Russia because "there are not enough TV stations in the country." Other luxuries listed included automobiles, fine chinaware, works of art and Bokhara rugs. But radios, phonographs, cameras, sports goods, musical instruments and books "have become necessities," it said.



IKE'S DROUGHT AREA TOUR — Here is President Eisenhower's itinerary for a Jan. 13-15 tour of the drought areas. He will participate in closing session of a two-day drought meeting in Wichita before he returns to Washington.

Record Low in Fire Loss, Council Told

Monessen had an exceptionally low fire loss during 1956, Fire Chief W. Roy McShaffrey said in his annual report at a meeting of City Council this morning.

The loss totaled only $3,535 — about $40 for every alarm.

During the year, the City's two volunteer fire departments answered 19 fire alarms, 44 silent alarms, 24 field fires and two out-of-town alarms.

McShaffrey's report stated that an average of 51 men answered each call. He also reported no loss of equipment.

His figures showed a loss of $1,875 on buildings with the loss on contents placed at $1,650. He said insurance covered most of the damage.

Fire Training

All members of the two organizations took fire training during the year and 33 members attended a fire school at California State Teachers College. The companies also took part in air raid alerts.

Council said it was one of the most satisfying annual reports submitted by the firemen.

In other business, Mayor Hugo J. Parente said inspectors from the Federal and State Bureaus of Mines made a survey of the recently discovered subsurface mine fire about 300 feet west of the intersection of Lookout avenue and Spruce street.

The inspectors will submit a report of the survey as soon as possible, Parente said.

The Mayor said he will seek federal and state financial aid to control the fire.

Renamed to Authority

On the recommendation of Parente, Emil Spadafore was reappointed to a five-year term on the Municipal Authority.

The only other business in one of the briefest meetings held by Council, Mrs. Henry Henderson, of 322 Third street, complained that Walter Crable, City dog law enforcement officer, killed her "five-month-old" dog last Dec. 26.

Chief of Police Michael Kuvinka said Crable told him the dog was six-months old and that Crable had orders to dispose of unlicensed or stray dogs that old or older.

She claimed the unlicensed dog was a "house dog" and didn't bother anyone Kuvinka, on the other hand, said police had received numerous complaints from Mrs. Henderson's neighbor that the dog was a "pest."

Michael Magatz, of Monessen, an officer with the State Humane Society, presented Mrs. Henderson's case.

Tax Cut May Be Coming for State Employers

HARRISBURG (UP)—A balance of $381,504,246 in the state's Unemployment Compensation Fund at the end of 1956 will mean a tax cut this year of about 25 per cent for 85,000 employers contributing to the fund, Gov. George M. Leader announced today.

The reduction, amounting to a saving of about $50,000,000 for employers, was forecast early in December when the Labor and Industry Department estimated the fund would rise above the $350,000,000 "peril point," a dividing line between lower and higher rates.

The average unemployment tax rate for 1956 was 2.2 per cent. The tax rate will return to 1.6 per cent for 1957 and the reduction will be shared by about 85,000 of the 200,000 employers contributing to the fund.

The governor said the remaining 115,000 employers are either paying a low rate or the maximum rate, and will continue on the same basis.

Cold Weather Due Tonight

By UNITED PRESS

Fresh snow, rain and sleet hit Pennsylvania today with some areas reporting new snow accumulations of up to four inches during the past 24 hours. The combination meant new woes for motorists who have been plagued by hazardous driving conditions generally since last week.

The entire length of the Pennsylvania Turnpike had snow and ice conditions which kept the speed limit down to 35 miles an hour.

Weather forecasters said conditions could be expected to worsen with the arrival of a new cold front moving eastward from Ohio. It is expected to reach Pittsburgh by noon and the Harrisburg-Allentown area by middle or late afternoon.

Mystery Man Is The Author

WASHINGTON (UP)—A proposed 34-word Democratic substitute for President Eisenhower's Middle East resolution drew cautious support on Capitol Hill today. But Speaker Sam Rayburn said he has not endorsed it.

Rayburn said the substitute was submitted to him by a "very prominent man" formerly high in the government. He said it was neither former President Truman nor former Secretary of State Dean Acheson.

Speculation centered on former Air Force Secretary Thomas K. Finletter as a likely author.

The proposed substitute only by inference would authorize the President, on his own, to use force in the area. It would make no mention of economic aid. It simply would state America's interest in independence of the Middle East nations and her determination to use force if necessary to maintain it.

Hays 'for it'

Committee members expressed interest in the substitute and one, Rep. Wayne L. Hays (D-Ohio), said "I'm 100 per cent for it."

Democratic committee members generally were cautious in their comments, pending receipt of the proposal from the speaker. Republicans were inclined to view it dimly.

"I think it would be disastrous," said Rep. John M. Vorys (R-Ohio) "because it would make every border scrap a question of vital interest to the U.S. without saying a word about the Communist menace."

Ignores Foreign Aid

The substitute also ignored another key feature of the original Eisenhower proposal — a $400 million program of economic and military aid to help strengthen Middle East nations.

Speaker Sam Rayburn said a "prominent" man no longer in the government submitted the substitute proposal.

Rayburn declined to identify the mystery man.

But several prominent former government officials either were in Washington for a high-level Democratic Party conference last weekend or live here or nearby.

Among them were former President Truman and former Secretary of State Dean Acheson. Mr. Truman attended a breakfast last Saturday and Acheson, whose most recent criticism of the Republican administration's foreign policy appeared last Sunday in a newspaper magazine section, spoke at a dinner Friday night.

Decline Invitations

Both Mr. Truman and former President Hoover declined invitations to appear before the House Foreign Affairs Committee which now is studying the doctrine. However, Acheson also was invited to testify and it was believed he would appear Thursday.

Rayburn, most powerful Democrat in the House, said the substitute appeared to "make some sense" but that he was not committed to it. Nevertheless, he distributed copies of the proposal to members of the foreign affairs committee.

There was no immediate reaction to the proposed substitute from the administration.

Kennedy Bests Kefauver in Bid For Coveted Seat on Committee

Sen. John F. Kennedy

WASHINGTON (UP)—For the fourth time, Sen. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn) has lost out to a senator with less seniority in his bid for a coveted seat on the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

Kefauver was passed up Tuesday in favor of Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass) to fill the only current vacancy on the committee.

Kenhedy, Kefauver's unsuccessful rival for the Democratic vice presidential nomination last year, has been in the Senate for four years. Kefauver for eight.

The time-honored seniority role for doling out committee assignments is cracking up among Senate Democrats. Thus, the Senate Democratic Steering Committee voted 14-0 to give the foreign relations seat to Kennedy, despite Kefauver's senior claim, in making a new set of committee assignments.

Parking Authority to Offer Premium Stalls

Monessen Parking Authority recommended last night that a section of the new downtown plaza be turned over to premium parkers.

Twenty-two stalls on the upper side of the middle level (off the alley) will be leased for day-time parking only on a monthly rental basis.

A $10 monthly fee will be charged for those desiring to occupy these spaces between the hours of 9 a. m. and 6 p. m.

Starting Feb. 1 and contingent on the approval of the bonding company, the City and the traffic engineer, the stalls will be leased to anyone on a temporary basis canceable on a 30-day notice.

City Council approved the move at its meeting this morning.

Application for these stalls will be accepted immediately from George Cieply, executive manager of the Monessen Chamber of Commerce.

"Income from these stalls, if 100 per cent occupied, will bring in $220 monthly," Harold Cramer, Authority chairman said, "thus helping the Authority meet its obligations much easier."

The Authority must realize approximately $450 weekly to meet payments on the plaza.

Collections, although not completely tabulated, have been running better than half that, Mayor

Franco Planning Big Shakeup in Spanish Cabinet

MADRID (UP)— Generalissimo Francisco Franco is considering a major cabinet reshuffle because of a split among his ministers, informed sources said today.

Political sources said two of the possible reasons for the shakeup were Spain's growing economic difficulties and difference between Falangist and Monarchists over new constitutional laws.

Madrid buzzed with speculation that at least five or six cabinet changes were contemplated. Such a shakeup would be the biggest carried out by the chief of state since 1951. Only two ministers have been replaced since.

The sources said Minister Jose Luis Arrese, secretary general of the ruling Falange, already had submitted his resignation and an expression of his disapproval of the slow progress being made in drafting laws to ensure the supremacy of the "national movement" (Falange).

The sources said the growing economic difficulties added impetus to the demands for new blood in the government.

GOP Promising Quick Action on Korean Bonus

HARRISBURG (UP) — The Republican majorities in both chambers of the General Assembly have promised quick action on a proposal for a $150,000,000 state bonus for Korean War veterans.

Senate Majority Whip Albert R. Pechan (R-Armstrong) and the party's House floor leader, Rep. Albert W. Johnson (R-McKean), both indicated the measure would be brought to the floor when the chambers reconvene Jan. 22.

The proposed constitutional amendment, making its second trip through the General Assembly, would go on the November ballot in a statewide referendum if approved by this session. However, the proposal stipulates that a suitable tax measure also be drawn up to finance the bonus.

Johnson said three other proposed constitutional amendments, absentee voting for civilians, annual sessions of the Legislature and tax exemptions for private forests used as public facilities, also would reach the House floor.

The House GOP served notice on Gov. George M. Leader's administration that it can look for a series of investigations. The Rules Committee, composed of ranking Republicans, brought a resolution calling for joint House-Senate hearings on the state Pardons Board to the floor Monday after considering the proposal overnight. The investigation, to have a rider spelling out needed appropriations, centers on the board's recommendation which brought three convicted Philadelphia slayers life sentences shortly before they were to go to the electric chair last September.

Prepare for Budget

Johnson said the House planned to get into "full swing" upon reconvening to clear the way for considering Leader's budget proposals expected early in February.

"We hope to go to work in earnest," he said, "and get these bills in-and-out of committee and on the calendar."

House Minority Leader Albert S. Readinger (D-Berks) said he did not know of any administration bills being readied for introduction. However, he added that meetings were planned with the administration to lay the foundation for pushing important parts of Leader's program.

Before the House quit for the week three eastern Pennsylvania legislators offered legislation aimed at legalizing raffles and bingo games.

Republican Reps. Thomas H.W. Jones and Floyd K. Brenninger, both of Montgomery County, and Rep. Joseph G. Wargo (D-Lackawanna), also introduced a bill to create a "legalized games of chance control commission."

The proposed bills would allow bona fide charity, educational and service organizations to hold bingo and raffle games offering prizes. The games commission would be empowered to issue licenses to the organizations.

The Senate, which recessed after Monday's session, expects to be at full strength Jan. 22 with Republican Floor Leader Rowland B. Mahany (Crawford) and Sen. John C. Miller (D-Beaver) present. Miller, recuperating from a throat ailment, has not yet been sworn into office and must take the oath when he returns.

President's Oath Won't Be Covered

WASHINGTON (UP)—The White House today barred all press, radio, and picture coverage of the ceremony on Sunday, Jan. 20, when President Eisenhower takes the actual oath of office for his second term.

Previously, Press Secretary James C. Hagerty had agreed to limited coverage by reporters regularly assigned to the White House, and to pooled television, radio, and picture coverage of the White House oath-taking.

Today, however, Hagerty said coverage requests had "gotten out of hand," and the White House decided to make the ceremony completely private.

force the seniority rule much more strictly, expected to complete their committee assignments today.

During the four years that Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas has been Democratic floor leader, the party leadership has been bending the seniority rule. Johnson has fought for a policy that every Democratic senator, even a freshman, should have at least one "good" committee.

Kefauver, who had not waived his seniority, said he was disappointed.

"Of course, I do not blame Sen. Kennedy for trying to better this position," he said, "but I am interested to learn that seniority is a rule that may or may not be applied by the Senate leadership in deciding the rights of senators."

Kennedy would succeed former Sen. Walter F. George (D-Ga) on the foreign relations group. The steering committee named 89-year-old Sen. Theodore Francis Green (D-RI) to succeed George as chairman of the committee.

Deer Causes Big Jam in Uniontown

UNIONTOWN, Pa. (UP)— A young deer strolled into town Tuesday night and caused a traffic jam.

Cars lined up for several blocks until the deer, frightened almost to the state of collapse, ran up a blind alley behind a Main St. grocery store. Game Warden Clifford Ruth sent two deputy wardens who rescued the quivering animal and carried it to the outskirts of town where they set the deer free.

Heavy Damage In Illinois Fire; Large Crowds

FREEPORT, Ill. (UP)—A million-dollar fire raged out of control for about eight hours during the night through a downtown business area, destroying three buildings and damaging two others.

The blaze broke out in the Stukenberg Department Store. Firemen said when they arrived at the scene the three-story building was filled with dense smoke and erupted into a sheet of flame almost immediately.

The fire spread quickly to the adjoining E and W Clothing Store, four - story structure. Huge crowds, at one time estimated at more than 10,000, converged on the area.

Apartment dwellers in the path of the flames fled as a third building, the Leath and Co. furniture store, caught fire. Firemen on the scene reported all three buildings a total loss. No injuries were reported.

Skelton Show Put on Film

HOLLYWOOD (UP)—The Red Skelton show was shown on film, instead of telecast "live" because the comedian was "completely broken up" by a recent disclosure that his son is dying of leukemia, the Columbia Broadcasting System said today.

A CBS spokesman said instead of the live telecast a film made last month by Skelton was used. The film was one of five scheduled for later this year.

Skelton' red-haired son, Richard, 9, has been given five months to a year to live by doctors who discovered last week that the boy is suffering with the incurable disease. Richard is undergoing treatment at UCLA Medical Center but is unaware of the fatal nature of the illness.

USW Facing Problem Over District Election

PITTSBURGH (UP)—Executive board members of the United Steelworkers today faced the alternative of considering a candidate's application for a place on the union's Feb. 12 ballot or seeing the squabble resolved in court.

Frank O'Brien, rank and file candidate for director of District 16, temporarily withdrew his petition to Allegheny County Common Pleas Court which demanded his name be listed. He was prepared to ask Judge Henry X. O'Brien to stop the election unless his name were on the ballot.

The Jones & Laughlin millhand after a two-hour conference in Judge O'Brien's chambers, agreed to postpone the court petition "for a reasonable time" to permit the USW's executive board time to consider his request.

If the union's policy - making board fails to act within the "reasonable" time, O'Brien can refile the court petition.

O'Brien entered the courtroom for his scheduled hearing prepared to do legal battle. Seated in the room were the subpoenaed secretaries of the seven USW locals he claimed had nominated him to run for director of the district which represents Pittsburgh's South Side and West End. A candidate for director needs only five local nominations according to the USW constitution.

The steelworker's petition charged he was denied his place on the ballot because top USW officials, including President David J. McDonald, allegedly had "conspired" to close the race to permit incumbent John Murray to run unopposed.

Parking

Hugo J. Parente told the Authority.

Cramer cautioned the Authority not to expect too much from the plaza in the first year of operation.

"In fact," he said, "our traffic engineer told us it will take almost 18 months before the plaza will begin paying off."

The premium rates for day-time parkers is the second part of a program to make the plaza financially feasible.

A premium for night-time parkers has been in force almost since the plaza's inception. Under that plan, parkers can use the plaza's facilities from 11 p. m. until 8 a. m. for a 25 cent fee. Normal fees are at the rate of five cents for a half-hour of parking time.

In other action the Authority approved the appointment of Stephen Sterbak as treasurer to fill the position vacated when George Andreskovich resigned.

Seneca Indian Appeal Before Federal Judge

BUFFALO, N.Y. (UP)— Federal Judge Justin C. Morgan was expected to act today on an appeal by the Seneca Nation of Indians of an order granting the government permission to survey part of its Allegany reservation for use in the proposed Kinzua, Pa. dam and reservoir.

Edward E. O'Neill, attorney for the Senecas, argued in court Tuesday that the government's move to temporarily occupy part of the reservation was unlawful and violated old treaty rights.

Judge Morgan gave O'Neill until 4 p.m. EST today to file a formal motion to vacate the possession order, which the judge signed last week, and a memorandum of his arguments.

The judge asked the U.S. Corps of Engineers not to enter the reservation for the survey, scheduled to start today, until he had rendered a decision. The survey is in line with plans to flood some 10,000 reservation acres in the reservoir area.

O'Neill argued that Congress agreed in 1794 that the Seneca Nation "would not be disturbed in possession of this land."

"The right of eminent domain, which came in 1888, and the subsequent appropriation acts have not overcome the limitations of that right," he said.

Assistant U.S Attorney John C. Broughton noted the dam project has been in the planning stages for years. He said the survey "is absolutely essential to the progress of this work."

"It will be advantageous to both parties because the Seneca Nation then will have an accurate representation of the government's plans," he said.

The drivers were riding alone in their cars, police said.

Morganza Report Good, Experts Tell Assembly

Urges Delay in Any Probes of State Institution

HARRISBURG (UP)—A group of social work experts told the state Legislature today that the Pennsylvania Training School at Morganza is doing a good job of rehabilitating juvenile delinquents.

The National Association of Social Workers, reporting on a recent two-month study of the oft-investigated institution, urged that any additional probes be delayed.

The Pittsburgh district chapter of the association said in a letter to state Sen. Albert R. Pechan, that Morganza was subjected to "unjustified and highly inflammatory attacks" during the past two years. Such attacks had a "most detrimental effect" on the Morganza staff and the children there, the letter said.

Prof. Elbert L. Hooker, a University of Pittsburgh faculty member and chairman of the association's local chapter, said his group found "very substantial improvement had been made" at Morganza although there is room for still more.

'Progress to Continue'

"We have reason to believe that with the present leadership in its board and staff, progress will continue," Hooker said in the report.

Hooker said the association's committee "found that the present board, administrative and professional staff of Morganza are doing a very commendable job with the resources at their command."

Morganza suffers from the fact that other institutions in the state "dump" their problem children on the Washington County school, the report said. It added that the school is handicapped by lack of trained help, its too-vocal critics, and inadequate state laws.

The investigating group, headed by Pitt Prof. William McCullough, praised Morganza for trying to institute a program to convert the inmates into useful citizens rather than maintaining mere custodial care.

Peoples Gas to Drill Wells in Western Penna.

PITTSBURGH (UP) — Peoples Natural Gas Co. revealed today at a rate increase hearing that it plans to drill 40 shallow and nine deep wells in Western Pennsylvania this year.

In testimony on Peoples' request for a $2,725,000 increase in rates for its Western Pennsylvania customers, company attorneys endeavored to show that exhibits offered by an opposition witness for the city of Pittsburgh were inaccurate and had previously been disallowed.

Peoples' lawyers closely cross-examined Martin T. Bennett, a consulting engineer who testified on behalf of Pittsburgh's protest against the proposed rate boost. Bennett had claimed that the company failed to list improvements in well-drilling techniques which, he said, offset increased labor and other costs.

Spencer Reeder, counsel for the gas firm, said Bennett's figures have previously been refused and are not accurate.

Under questioning by PUC attorney Maurice Mindlin, Bennett said that arriving at his "trend-of-cost" figures, he had eliminated such "unusual" expenses as loss of tools, time required in recovering lost tools from drillings, and costs of drilling through coal mines.

Try Central Park

NEW YORK (UP)—Hugo De Wys, 23, a bicyclist from Brunnik, The Netherlands, who arrived in New York Tuesday, said he would leave town as soon as possible because there was no place for him to pitch his tent.

Railroad Discussion At Kiwanis Meeting

A discussion on "Railroad Transportation" provided the program for the Monessen Kiwanis Club at a meeting held last night in the Slovak Home following the serving of a 6:10 dinner.

President Charles Penwick conducted the first session since his installation and introduced as guest speaker was Charles A. Hardwick, traffic representative for the Missouri Pacific Railroad. His headquarters is in Pittsburgh and his discussion included railroad conditions in this area.

Bob Pettigrew led in the group singing.

Plans were made for a Ladies Night to be held on Feb. 19, at the Slovak Home and in charge of arrangements will be Rudy Benedetti, William Crawford and Michael Dacko.

The club decided to have representation at the mid-Winter conference to be held in Altoona on Jan. 19 and it is also expected that several members will attend a testimonial banquet honoring the Kiwanis International President Reed Culp, which will be held at Avalon, Jan. 28.

W. R. H. Patterson, Lt. Gov. of Division 8, a member of the local club, was in Latrobe last night to install new officers and tonight he will go to Greensburg for the same purpose.

A Board of Directors meeting was held following the regular session.

Negro Ministers Take Seats in Front of Bus

ATLANTA (UP)—Twelve Negro ministers boarded an Atlanta city bus today and sat in front seats in an apparent attempt to break down Georgia's bus segregation laws.

The public vehicle—an electrically-operated trackless trolley—appeared to develop power trouble just after the Negroes boarded and two mechanics were called to repair it. All but one of the five or six white passengers aboard got off. The Negroes remained.

The first attempt at bus integration in the Georgia capital city occurred at a busy downtown intersection, the corner of Whitehall and Mitchell streets. The Negroes, members of the "love, law and liberation" movement, held a prayer meeting this morning and then went downtown to board buses.

Gov. Marvin Griffin promptly blamed "outside agitators" for the integration attempt and said the Negro bus riders should be jailed.

The integration move in the Georgia metropolis, a bedrock of Deep South segregation practices, was made on the eve of a meeting of bus integration leaders from other southern states, including the Negro ministers who led move to break down segregated seating laws in Montgomery and Birmingham, Ala., and Tallahassee, Fla.

dren of our predominantly union community without bias?"

Miss Lander said she has been teaching for 35 years and "not once have I inquired of a student what union his parents belong to. Myself and the rest of the teachers are interested only in providing children with a good education, no matter what their race, religion or union their parents may belong to."

At the opening of last night's meeting, the Monessen Education Association, a faculty organization, informed the board of a resolution it had adopted earlier last night. It said in part:

"The Monessen Education Association is not opposed to organized labor. The MEA with its 112 members seeks to carry out its obligations to all children of the Monessen School District . . . The Board of Directors of the Monessen School District is concerned with the education of all the children. . . The teachers. . .express their confidence in the board in their efforts to improve education of all the children. . .that the teachers express their gratitude to the board for their willingness to cooperate with the MEA in the promotion of welfare policies for the teachers. . ."

Niccolai Renamed

Niccolai was reappointed football coach by a 4 to 2 vote, with Nicholas Cullen and Romeo Furio dissenting. Favoring Niccolai were Dr. Joseph Dudas, Perry Cozza, Kachmarik and Lancas. The seventh director, John Kossar, was absent.

Details of the reappointment of Niccolai can be found on the sports pages.

The board voted to engage Thomas P. Bicanich, Jr., of Greensburg, as a teacher of business in the High School at an annual salary of $3,600. Dr. Pallone recommended Bicanich and said there is a dire need for a commercial teacher.

Applicants for positions included: Gerald Wick, of Punxsutawney, business subjects; John Plavko, of Monessen, substitute teacher, business subjects; Marilyn Pivarnik, of Monessen, elementary teacher, and John Hayduk, of Monessen, baseball coach.

Bids to supply gasoline, oil, tires and other auto accessories were tabled until the board receives additional information about prices.

Insurance Bonus

Connor Salm, supervisor for the Washington National Group Insurance Co., which handles the district's group life insurance and hospitalization, informed the board that the bonus for the policy year 1955-56 amounted to $5,999.45. He suggested that a portion of the bonus be used to increase the benefits of the employes and their dependents.

The board also granted permission to several teachers and students to represent the district at several music and forensic meetings.

Dr. Pallone said he has been advised by the State Education Council that it is withholding a decision on the annexation problem involving the City of Monessen, Monessen School District and Rostraver Township School District until Jan. 30. The Council is seeking additional information. Dr. Pallone said such information is being prepared and will be presented to the Council in Harrisburg.

'Jim' Sought in $20,000 Theft In Pittsburgh

PITTSBURGH (UP)— City police searched today for a bandit named "Jim" and a companion with a cough who held up a Hilltop loan office and escaped with an estimated $20,000 in cash.

The thieves, who asked their victims to supply a bag to carry away the loot, held five persons at bay with a Luger pistol Tuesday while they flushed the cash from four drawers and two safes.

The bandits passed up government checks and travelers checks.

Jean Gross, teller at the Lyman Savings and Loan Assn., told police the bandits entered separately and each asked for a silver dollar for a dollar's change.

While the first thief walked to the door, his accomplice, his face covered by a hankerchief into which he was coughing, pulled out the Luger and declared:

"All right. You know what this is."

Miss Gross ran screaming into the office of secretary Bernard A. Bieri, followed by the coughing thief. The other man, called "Jim," looted the outer office safe and cash drawers while the cougher ransacked the strong box in the manager's office.

Bieri said the robbers fled by car.

Gasoline Fumes Threaten City's Sewer System

FORT MORGAN, Colo. (UP)—Explosive fumes from 600 gallons of gasoline lingered in Fort Morgan's sewer system today, but the city accepted the remote danger calmly.

The gasoline was pumped accidentally from a city supply tank, and flowed into the sewer system through a ground-level drain.

Fire Chief Vic Edwards had fire hydrants throughout the city turned on immediatey, to help flush the gasoline from beneath the city. But he said explosive fumes would remain in the air spaces of the sewer pipes for "two or three days."

The chance that the fumes might be ignited appeared slim. But Edwards and police were worried that if the story got out, rumors soon would exaggerate the danger and cause panic.

Nehru, Chou Holding Answer to Hungarians

VIENNA (UP) — Hungarian hopes of breaking the shackles of the Stalin-type dictatorship of the Soviet puppet regime may depend on India and Communist China, Western observers said today.

A meeting in Moscow between Indian Ambassador K. P. S. Menon and Red Chinese Premier Chou En-lai may determine whether the Hungarians will obtain a measure of political freedom, they said.

It was believed Menon's report on Hungary to Chou would have a determining effect on Red China's stand on the issue. And Western observers believed Chou more than any one else could bring pressure to bear on the Kremlin.

Menon flew to Moscow from Budapest Tuesday for talks with Chou. Reports from Vienna said the meeting was a major topic of conversation in the Hungarian capital.

The Indian diplomat is undoubtedly the best-informed non-Communist on the Hungarian situation. He was ordered from Moscow to Budapest by Indian Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru to study conditions shortly after Soviet armored forces crushed the Hungarian freedom-fighters' revolt.

Western diplomats believed Menon would stress two main factors in his talks with Chou:

1. Hungary must have immediate economic and material assistance if it is to avoid national bankruptcy.

2. The defiance of the Hungarian people is so strong they are not likely to make any all-out effort to put the country back on its economic feet unless the Janos Kadar regime retreats from its "proletarian dictatorship."

Turncoats Want Back Pay

WASHINGTON (UP)— Three former turncoat soldiers have filed suit against the government to recover about $14,000 in back pay and allowances while they were prisoners of war in Korea.

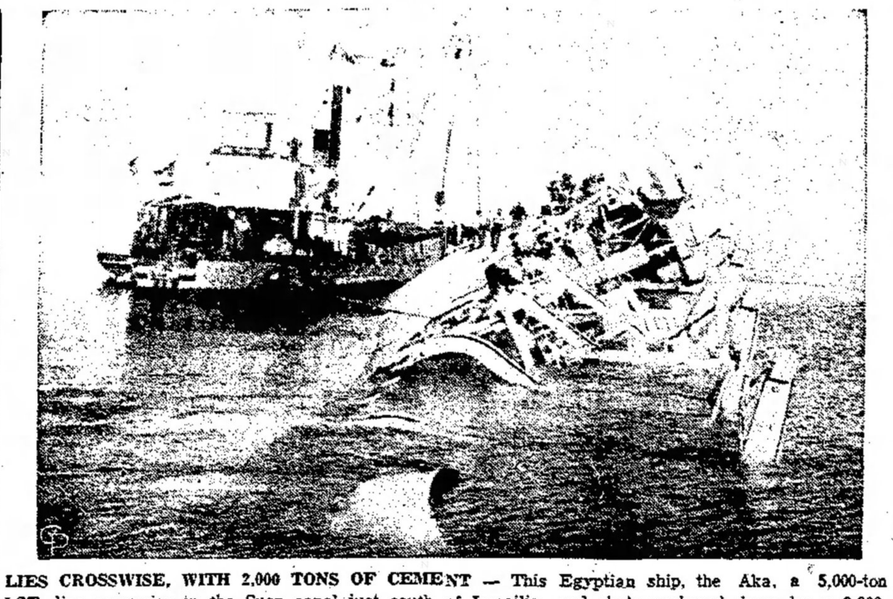
The suits were filed by Lewis Griggs of Jacksonville, Tex., Otto G. Bell of Hillsboro, Miss., and William A. Cowart of Dalton, Ga.

The former prisoners of war refused to return to the United States after the Korean armistice but later renounced Red China and came home in July, 1955.

The Army charged all three with collaborating with the enemy when they returned to this country. They have denied the charges.

In their suits before the U.S. Court of Claims Bell asked for $4,580; Cowart $5,057, and Griggs $4,071.

The three were among 23 American soldiers who refused to return home at the end of the Korean War.



LIES CROSSWISE, WITH 2,000 TONS OF CEMENT — This Egyptian ship, the Aka, a 5,000-ton LST, lies crosswise in the Suez canal just south of Ismailia, and she's anchored down by a 2,000-ton load of cement. The salvage craft is the Italian tug Squalo. The Aka was bombed by Anglo-French planes. This scene is near entrance to Lake Timsah. The Aka will be broken up by dynamite and removed piecemeal.

Salvage Expert Claims Egypt Slowing Down Suez Clearance

LONDON (UP)—Lt. Gen. Raymond A. Wheeler said today Egypt was slowing down clearance of the Suez Canal by imposing restrictions on the number of salvage vessels he could use.

The retired American general who is in charge of the United Nations salvage job said in Port Said as result of the Egyptian "quota" he was sending home the British salvage vessels Spencer and Uplifter.

Another indication of growing Egyptian toughness came from Cairo where the government announced it would not enter direct or indirect negotiations with Britain and France over the future control of the canal.

However Abdel Kader Hatem, director of the Egyptian Information Department, said Egypt was ready to discuss the question of navigation in the United Nations.

A U.S. Embassy spokesman in Cairo announced that American Ambassador Raymond Hare would fly to Washington Saturday for talks on American-Egyptian relations.

It was understood Hare would report on Egyptian reaction to President Eisenhower's proposed Middle East doctrine. There has been no official Egyptian reaction to the plan, but newspapers have been cool to the idea.

In other Middle East developments:

Jerusalem: Israel completed the first stage of its Sinai Desert withdrawal, leaving 60 per cent of the area in U.N. hands.

Damascus: A military court continued the trial of self-exiled Syrian Dictator Adib Shishekly and 46 other Syrians on charges they attempted to overthrow the government and replace it with a pro-Western administration.

Tehran: Sixty alleged subversives were reported arrested in the key northern province of Azerbaijan bordering Russia. They were charged with arms smuggling.

London: The News - Chronicle quoted a "confidant" of Nasser's, Lebanese millionaire Emile Bustani, as saying in Beirut that Nasser would never permit Israeli shipping to use the Suez Canal.

Bonn, Germany: Yemeni Charge D'Affaires Abdel Rayman Aboaydany said Tuesday night that "British air attacks on Yemeni towns have increased" and that he believed his government "will be forced to call on volunteers from everywhere to fight the British."

Phone Company Asks Injunction To Use Streets

GREENSBURG, Pa. (UP)—The General Telephone Co. of Erie asked Westmoreland County Court yesterday for a judgment ordering the borough of Vandergrift to permit it to use borough streets and alleys for its lines.

The Erie firm said it bought the Vandergrift Telephone Co. in September, 1955, and then learned the borough never had passed an ordinance permitting the Vandergrift company use of streets and alleys for service lines.

It said it asked the borough to enact such an ordinance but the borough refused.

The Erie firm contended a state act passed in 1919 provided for such ordinances.

No hearing date was fixed in the case.

Reluctant Partisans

WE ARE FINDING it a little hard to understand the seeming reluctance of some leading Democrats, in Congress and out, to support President Eisenhower's request for authority to check possible Communist aggression in the Middle East. This reluctance is particularly difficult to understand when it is voiced by persons who have been advocating more bi-partisanship in the conduct of foreign policy.

Surely one of the major reasons the President is taking this matter to Congress instead of acting on his own responsibility, which he probably could do under the Constitution, is that both houses of Congress are controlled by the Democrats. He apparently feels that under these circumstances a joint executive-congressional declaration will have more effect abroad than a mere executive statement of policy which may or may not represent the will of the opposition majorities in Congress.

Here, then, is bi-partisanship of the first order with the President consulting openly, formally and on an equal basis with the leaders of the opposition. What more in the way of cooperation would be asked?

We get the feeling from some of the Democratic statements that those who are making them would rather make speeches about bi-partisanship in foreign policy than actually share in the making and conduct of policy. In other words, they want power without responsibility.

We hope this feeling is wrong and that the hesitancy stems only from a desire to examine the President's recommendations fully and independently.

Pitt and Football

THE CITY of Pittsburgh, as well as the University, seem to be getting a lot of publicity mileage out of this year's Pitt football team even though the team lost three games.

One of the Pittsburgh papers went so far as to say editorially that the Pitt football team had made the greatest contribution of the year to the Pittsburgh "renaissance". And the Chancellor of the University, Dr. Litchfield, addressing a banquet in the team's honor, was quoted as saying that if all of the faculty members and department heads at Pitt would work as hard and effectively as the football coach, Pitt's future would be assured.

Those of us who have been watching recent developments at the University, especially the large amounts of money which are coming to it, have been encouraged to hope that Pitt might be on the way to becoming something more than a routine provincial university. Western Pennsylvania, it would seem, with all its wealth and other resources, should be able to accomodate a university of really first rank.

But the feeling seems to persist in Pittsburgh that such an institution can be built around a football team. This scheme has been tried many times by many universities, including Pitt, and we are not aware that it has worked in any single instance. In fact, in numerous cases it has happened that, as the reputation of the football team increased, the standing of the institution as a seat of learning has diminished. The relationship may not be one of direct cause and effect, but there seems definitely to be a relationship nevertheless.

Not So Tough

NEWSPAPER reporters and editors usually are portrayed in the movies and elsewhere as hard-boiled, cynical, suspicious creatures who wouldn't believe their grandmothers without airtight evidence.

But the regularity with which Hollywood press agents make suckers of virtually the whole American press doesn't support this portrait.

At this writing, an actress popularly known as "The Body" has been occupying priceless front page space for three days with a tale of "kidnaping" so lacking in interesting detail and so obviously phoney that no self-respecting carnival publicity man would have his name connected with it.

Before any story can achieve this kind of national circulation, it has to run the intricate gauntlet of reporters, rewrite men, copy editors, news editors, managing editors, picture editors and heaven knows how many others. Presumably, the sources are scrutinized on the basis of infinite experience and judgment perfected by long practice. These people all earn their livings by handling facts.

But apparently all this experience and judgment flies out the window when some third-rate spieler gives out something that has to do with a "Body".

Sen William Knowland, of California, says he will not be a candidate for reelection next year, and his friends (as well as some of his enemies) say this is part of a long-range campaign for the presidency. With the next presidential election four years away, the range is much too long for us.

Merry-Go-Round—

Middle East Plan Must Be Supported

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — It would be disastrous in the extreme if the Congress did not support the President in voting the new Eisenhower doctrine for the Near East. Here are certain events, some of them little known to the public, which back up this conclusion.

Mr. Pearson

Shortly after the election, this writer reported that on Nov. 5, one day before the election, a hurried White House meeting was called to consider the Kremlin's note to England and France, threatening attack if they did not quit fighting in Suez.

Herbert Hoover, acting Secretary of State, was deathly afraid Russia would precipitate war. He reported various moves made by Moscow.

"This sent the jitters through American leaders," I reported on Nov. 12. . . "Urgent messages were rushed to Prime Minister Eden and Premier Mollet warning that the fate of western civilization might rest upon their agreement to an immediate cease fire in Suez.

"French reaction was negative. Mollet wasn't worried by the Russian threat. He branded it a big bluff. . . . Eden immediately decided to call off the Egyptian war."

These events, reported exclusively in this column Nov. 12, were officially substantiated on Dec. 12 when U. S. Ambassador Douglas Dillon in France stated that neither the United States nor the United Nations, but rather Soviet threats had brought about the French-British cease fire.

Eden Is Scornful

This is one backstage incident that makes congressional support for the proposed Eisenhower doctrine so necessary. For both European and the Near East governments are convinced the Eisenhower administration can be outbluffed by Moscow, that it won't intervene in the Near East unless it has an official OK from Congress.

The view is so widely and scornfully held that Prime Minister Eden, discussing the proposed Eisenhower doctrine with a diplomat last week, remarked that the President would not use American forces unless "the Red Army was marching up Pennsylvania avenue."

Other incidents have contributed to this belief. Here are some of them:

Indochina — Speaking before the Governors' Conference in Seattle in 1953, the President stressed the importance of Indochina, warned that the United States might be constrained to act. Later at the American Legion convention, John Foster Dulles threatened "massive retaliation" in a speech obviously aimed at Red aggression against Indochina. Later in April 1954, Vice President Nixon, addressing the American Society of Newspaper Editors, stated that the United States would use troops to block Communism in Indochina.

While Eisenhower officials kept making speeches, Communist leaders kept on advancing. Apparently they knew U. S. forces would not be used. Indochina today is more than half Communist.

The Summit Conference — In June 1955, one month before the Summit conference in Geneva, Ambassador Henry Byroade reported from Cairo that Colonel Nasser planned to buy Russian-Czech arms.

Yet nothing was done at the Geneva conference one month later to stop an arms transaction which was certain to upset, and did upset, the peace of the Near East. It was stated by Eisenhower officials in explanation that the Kremlin chiefs had informed Ike at Geneva that the arms deal was purely a commercial transaction. Apparently Ike took their word.

Two years later, enough arms were found in the Sinai desert by the Israeli army to have equipped several divisions of the Red Army — obviously sent there to be used by Russian volunteers when the time was ripe.

Executive Warnings vs. Congressional Warnings — One of the chief reasons Eisenhower went to Congress with a special request to give him power which he admits he already has, is the ineffectiveness of recent U. S. warnings.

American diplomats abroad have been reporting that Eisenhower administration warnings don't mean much anymore. Nobody particularly believes them. On the other hand, the warning supported by Congress in regard to Formosa has meant something.

From Washington—

Report on the Refugees

By ROSCOE DRUMMOND

In the wake of Vice President Nixon's illuminating report on the Hungarian refugees, the administration is taking three further steps that the United States may do its part in dealing with a great humanitarian crisis.

Mr. Drummond

It will greatly step up, beyond the 21,000 already accepted, the flow to the U.S. of Hungarians who are fleeing Soviet reprisals.

It will work out methods to provide emergency assistance, in the form of food and housing, to neighboring European countries, pre-eminently Austria, which are willing to take larger numbers of refugees but which haven't the immediate means to look after them.

It will seek amendments to the McCarran-Walter Immigration Act to regularize the emergency measures the President has already taken and to enable other refugees, equally deserving sanctuary from Communist terror, to enter the United States

Help With Jobs

The handling of the rapidly arriving Hungarian refugees at the Kilmer Reception Center in New Jersey is now on a well-organized basis. The main task, apart from the immediate need for rest and care, has been to compile and record the professional or technical job skills of each individual and to relate this information to the increasing job offers from all over the country

This is now being done expeditiously and in sufficiently precise detail so that the specialized skills of these valuable people can be made most useful — to themselves and to their new jobs. Recently a questionnaire has gone to private industry and to educational and scientific organizations so that the reception center can obtain still better data on employment opportunities. This will avoid the misunderstanding which caused some firms to send buses to Kilmer with the drivers instructed to haul away busloads of refugees to unspecified jobs.

These brave, freedom-loving Hungarians who are reaching the United States are mostly highly-trained technicians and among them are doctors, educators, scientists and other professional people.

These words from Leo Cherne, executive director of the Research Institute of America and chairman of the International Rescue Committee — he was one of the last Americans out of Hungary before the Soviet tanks moved in — deserve to be borne in mind:

'Victors in Battle'

'These are not bedraggled, pitiful, sorrowing, broken people such as the millions who were broken by Hitler and Stalin. The men and women who have crossed the Hungarian frontier are victors in an historic battle. They are proud and certain of their future, and their future is a free Hungary."

On his return from Austria Mr. Nixon described the refugee Hungarians this way: "For the most part they were in the forefront of the fight for freedom and fled only when the choice was death or deportation at the hands of the foreign invaders."

Much of the credit for organizing the reception and placement at the Kilmer center belongs to Tracy S. Voorhees, former Secretary of the Army who, at the President's request, stepped in to co-ordinate the work of the private agencies, which provide fully half of the cost, and the government, which provides the transportation and the temporary care.

Must Accept More

The Vice President believes that the United States and the other free nations must take substantially more refugees to shield and preserve them for future service to their homeland. He urges that no ceiling be placed "on what we will do to fulfill our traditional national mission of providing a haven of refuge for the victims of aggression."

The Kilmer Center, I am informed, is now in a position to receive, process and place in suitable private employment 500 Hungarians a day and this rate could be maintained to meet any foreseeable need. If we were to take 50,000 such refugees, we would, on a population basis, be taking only one-third as many Hungarians as Switzerland, which is receiving 10,000.

As is so often the case, what is humanitarian is also beneficial, since these Hungarians will be a great national asset.

What Has Happened To Wondering Gypsies?

By MARGARET LATROBE

Gypsy bands no longer roam this country as they did in your earliest memory. You lived in a little country town, full of quiet and sunshine, where nothing exciting ever happened — at least, nothing they ever told you about — where snowbirds and cardinals pecked at the seeds you threw them in Winter, where the sand in Summer was very hot under foot.

Mrs. Latrobe

You were three years old then, and could be trusted to walk to Sunday School all alone, up the dusty road which seemed far indeed to you, but was only a few hundred yards. Just you and a pink parasol which stayed unfurled inside the church. It was hotter within than without, and you were too young to know the difference between keeping off the sun and keeping cool. The parasol stayed up, wherever. You only thought you walked alone, another subterfuge of the Sabbath. Daddy trailed your small patent leather footsteps, knowing too well your urge to see the wide and wonderful distance. Sundays, though, you usually sang hymns under the pink umbrella. You liked the sonorous voice of the minister and the rustle of ladies' silk dresses.

Weekdays it was different. Daddy was at his hardware store. Mother was busy with the baby. You were — ah, you were free for adventure. Neither the locked picket fence nor the apple tree full of switches could keep you from adventure. Such fine friends there were out there. Ffolicsome dogs. Little insects and snakes in the stiff grass. Wild plums to eat, blue flowers to gather. Things like that. Once you met a "tramp" in the road by your own gate. He was a harmless, homeless, hungry and very kind gentleman. You invited him right in for a warm supper, just as your Dad arrived.

Tramps, you knew, had always been fed when they came to the back door. Why did your parents exchange The Glance, and object when you invited one in specially? The lock got higher on the picket fence.

One day a band of gypsies camped in the meadow across the hot, dusty road. Their little wagons, like gilded hearses, pulled up. The ponies were unharnessed and staked. Suddenly the field was full of music and brilliant scarves, gold necklaces, and black hair shining like manes of jet. Camp fires were soon briskly cooking pots of mush, children chattering and laughing . . . Surely one brief social call at midday was in order. You opened the locked gate with a long switch from the apple tree, and joined the gypsies.

You ate mush with them from a tin plate, drank chocolate from a tin cup. "Thank you, ma'am!" you said, remembering ma'am was pronounced like "mom." You wanted to show these dark and delightful children the large toad you had penned in the sandpile, but in the opposite direction (from home) was a woods full of white violets. That would have to do. You took the young gypsies on a gay and lengthy tour — the muddy brook which you all fell into, the onion grass you ate, violets and a three-leafed vine you picked, you took them so far from anywhere that you couldn't lead them back

At sundown, chattering gypsies and a very nonplussed Dad came stomping through the fields. There seemed to be some discussion about who had kidnapped whom. Everyone was looking your way.

After recovering from the poison ivy, the mush and a good switching, you stood by the fence looking at the empty meadow. Gay wanderers — where did they go in their pretty gilded hearses? It was hard to get interested in a mere brown toad, after such a day.

Behind the News—

Malenkov Returns to Front Ranks of Reds

By CHARLES M. MCCANN

Russia's Georgi M. Malenkov seems to have made a big political comeback.

Ever since he resigned as premier on Feb. 8, 1955, Malenkov had been in partial eclipse

But his attendance at the important meeting of Communist leaders in Budapest last week indicated pretty clearly that he has been restored to first rank in Soviet leadership

One reason apparently is that Malenkov kept his head during the long argument among Soviet leaders over Nikita S Khrushchev's course in repudiating Josef Stalin's methods of dictatorship.

Another is that Malenkov probably is the smartest of the 11 men in the inner leadership of the Kremlin

When Malenkov resigned so dramatically as Stalin's heir in the prime ministry, he said he was inadequate for the job

Reduced In Rank

Malenkov was reduced to the rank of an ordinary deputy premier—behind several first deputies—and made minister for electric power stations.

He remained a member of the inner collective leadership. But men like Khrushchev, the first secretary of the Communist Party, and Nikolai A. Bulganin, who succeeded him as premier, did the talking and represented the Kremlin on visits abroad.

Malenkov did make a visit to Great Britain. But he did so in his capacity of minister for the power stations, to visit British atomic and other installations.

Last week's Budapest meeting marked the launching of a new Soviet policy line toward the East European satellite countries.

The choice of Malenkov to accompany Khrushchev to that meeting, which brought together the Communist leaders of Russia, Hungary, Czechoslovakia, Romania and Bulgaria certainly is significant.

He would hardly have been chosen unless he had made a full comeback.

This does not necessarily mean that there is to be any formal change in the present Kremlin line-up

Khrushchev's Job Safe

Khrushchev seems to be safe in his job as Communist Party first secretary despite the East European revolts which resulted from his down-grading of Stalin. There has been no sign that Bulganin, who supported Khrushchev in the down-grading policy, is likely to lose the prime ministry.

But it is entirely likely that some day Malenkov may get back that job or may replace Khrushchev as first secretary. For a short time after Stalin's death Malenkov was first secretary as well as premier.

The big thing in Malenkov's favor is that he is both smart and an able administrative executive, and that he does not indulge in loose talk. His visit to Great Britain was a resounding success. Khrushchev and Bulganin, who followed him there, bounced from one blunder to another.

At 55 — yesterday, incidentally was his birthday—Malenkov was Stalin's right-hand man for years. He is called pudgy and roly poly. Though he is but 5 feet 7 inches tall, he weighs about 250 pounds. The keen little eyes that look out from his fat face miss nothing.

If he really has made a comeback, he is likely to be a balancing influence in the Soviet leadership

Elvis Classified 1-A in the Draft

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (UP)—A pre-induction physical report which will make singer Elvis Presley's draft classification 1A was mailed to his draft board today.

Capt Elwyn Rowan said the singer passed his pre-induction physical with ease and "qualified for 1A."

However, Rowan said it would probably be six months or more before Presley is called in service, despite the top draft-eligible classification.

The civilian time left for Presley will depend on the size of the city's draft quota and the number of volunteers, he said

Steel Mills to Up Production To Near Record

NEW YORK (UP)—The nation's steel mills are slated to boost production to a near-record level of 2,517,000 tons this week, American Iron & Steel Institute estimated today.

Output is scheduled at 98.3 per cent of 1957 capacity, which would boost the production index to 156.7 per cent of the 1947-49 average.

Actual production last week, which was affected by the New Year's holiday, totaled 2,490,000 tons. The production rate was 97.3 per cent of capacity and the index rating was 155.0.

A month ago the mills operated at 102.4 per cent of 1956 capacity and produced 2,522,000 tons, for an index rating of 157.0. The all-time high was set in the week beginning Dec. 17, when the industry produced 2,525,000 tons.

A year ago, production came to 2,428,000 tons, which was equivalent to 98.6 per cent of capacity and a production index of 151.1.

Sea Serpent Has Fooled Experts At National Zoo

WASHINGTON (UP)—A mean-looking expectant sea serpent has fooled the experts at the National Zoo.

They said she would give birth to a mean-looking baby sea serpent. Maybe several.

Instead, she turned chicken Tuesday and laid some eggs.

The zoo's serpent experts were aghast. They immediately called in the serpent experts at the Smithsonian Institution for consultation.

There was the black and white-banded serpent—all four poisonous feet of it. There were eggs.

The Smithsonian experts shook their heads.

The serpent — called laticauda colubrina by her friends—is supposed to bear her young alive, ugly and wiggling.

Acting Zoo Director Theodore Reed allowed the whole thing was confusing.

"I feel a little bit like a new father having to announce it's an egg instead of a girl or boy," he said.

Report Drop in Jobless Benefits

HARRISBURG (UP) — State Treasurer Weldon B. Heyburn today reported a $23,074,605 drop in state unemployment compensation payments during 1956.

Heyburn said his office sent out checks to 6,455,488 persons, representing $166,638,173 last year as compared to 7,458,139 checks totaling $189,712,778 in 1955.

Hawaiians Talkative Persons

The two most talkative telephone spots on the globe are U. S. territories — Hawaii and Alaska.

This and other facts are reported in "The World's Telephones," the American Telephone and Telegraph Company's annual survey just published.

At the beginning of 1956, the survey showed, there were 101 million telephones in the world, or two phones for every one in service 10 years earlier. The total reflected a record increase of 6-½ million over the previous year.

When it came to using the phone, Hawaii out-talked all other areas. The island territory reported 647 conversations per capita during 1955. Alaska was second with 572.

For the fourth successive year Canada averaged more telephone conversations per person (446) than did the United States, which had 409. Iceland, as usual, ranked high on the conversation list with 399.

Each of these was among the 11 countries or areas reporting 15 or more telephones for every 100 inhabitants. The United States headed this list with 33.7 telephones per 100 population, or about one phone for every three persons.

Sweden, which for many years has been second only to the United States, was next with 30.4 per 100 population. Hawaii ranked third with 29 and Canada was fourth with 26.3. Iceland was tenth with 17.1. Alaska was eleventh with 16.8.

These figures are for the year 1955 — it takes almost a year to gather the information from some 250 governments and companies throughout the world.

Telephones in Spain reached the million mark during 1955. Statistics of the Democratic Republic of Germany (East Germany) show that that country, too, had more than a million telephones.

These two additions bring the number of countries reporting more than a million telephones to fourteen: United States, United Kingdom, Canada, West Germany, Japan, France, Italy, Sweden, Australia, Switzerland, Argentina, the Netherlands, Spain and East Germany, in that order.

In the United States as of Jan. 1, 1956, there were 56,243,000 telephones (now there are more than 59,000,000) operated by some 4,700 private companies. Most of the telephones in European countries were operated by government agencies.

A person in the United States could pick up a telephone and call any of 97 million other phones — 41 million of them located in more than 100 other countries or territories.

Your Health—

We All Get Sniffles Sooner or Later

By H. N. BUNDESEN, M. D.

Got the sniffles?

You're not the only one!

This is the worst time of the year for colds. Right now, between 10,000,000 and 15,000,000 Americans are catching colds every day. All told, about 40,000,000 persons — one fourth of our population — have a cold in one stage or another this very minute. For we have more colds between early January and mid-February than at any other time of the year.

Who catches cold?

Well, just about all of us are vulnerable. But those living in the North Central states have more than those living anywhere else. Chicago, incidentally, has the highest "common cold" rate in the entire nation.

East Coast residents have a below average rate. And those living on the Pacific Coast have the best chance of all of getting through the year with only a few sneezes.

Women catch more colds than men. (I don't mean to imply that women catch men. It's the other way round, they tell me). Seriously, twice as many women as men become cold victims each year.

If you are on the stout side, you are apt to have fewer colds than your skinnier friends.

While a cold is one of the most highly contagious diseases we know, it's quite possible to kiss someone with a cold and still not catch it yourself. On the other hand, merely shaking hands with a cold sufferer might give you the virus.

Once you get a cold you'll probably have the sniffles. Eighty per cent of the victims do. But you have a fairly good chance of escaping the other miseries which sometimes go along with a runny nose.

Only half of the cold sufferers develop sore throats. Even fewer — 42 per cent — have a cough, and a mere 22 per cent have headaches.

You can build up immunity to colds, but you've got to do it the hard way. If you keep contracting a series of "little" colds that only cause a slight nose tickle and throat scratch, you can generally avoid catching a serious cold.

Jazz Is Being Ignored on the TV Networks

NEW YORK (UP)—One of the untidiest ommissions in TV programming is the networks' neglect of jazz—progressive, oldy or even slightly mildewed.

Those who dig can catch jazz occasionally on segments of Steve Allen's NBC-TV "Tonight" show or on the CBS-TV Sunday eye-opener, "Look Up And Live." But, sad to say, that's about it.

For the past six months, however, at least one radio network—Mutual—has been filling the gap. It has been blowing up a storm with a two-hour showcase, "Bandstand U.S.A.," a "live" effort that has provided gigs for such practitioners of the art as Dizzy Gillespie, Gerry Mulligan, Lester Young and the late Art Tatum.

"You know," when we began this series last July, I was scared to death. We didn't really know whether it would take," says producer Tom Reynolds, who also holds the elegant title of musical coordinator at Mutual.

"What's more,o ur first show came from the Newport Jazz Festival and we didn't even have clearance for a bunch of tunes Duke Ellington wanted to play until five minutes before air time. We really sweated that one out.

"But we made it. And now, we're really beginning to catch hold—we started with 82 stations and at last count, we had more than 300."

Trotters To Arrive Here in Force

When the Harlem Globetrotters come to Monessen on February 6, they will arrive in force. The Trotters' boss, wily Abe Saperstein, has assembled a troupe of more than 30 entertainers. Included will be four vaudeville acts . . . Saperstein has added the "side-shows" to make up for the loss of the incomparable Goose Tatum and other former stars. He insists the current Trotters cast is as good, but concedes that the luster of Tatum's name isn't there . . . So fans who turn out for the Trotters will see more than a basketball game. Among other things there will be a juggling act, unicycle stunts, Wild West lassoers and a table tennis comedy routine.

* * *

Incidentally the sponsoring Knights of Columbus have priced all tickets at the MHS gym at the same figure for the Trotters show. That means the early-birds will get the best seats . . . Dan Connair, jayvee basketball coach at Donora, picked up $500 for winning a football contest sponsored over the holidays by a Pittsburgh newspaper. Connair picked all seven bowl games along with 68 other contestants. Dan won the loot by forecasting that the total points of the contests would amount to 257. The actual count was 258 . . . The WPAL basketball program is now in its 48th season.

Cheering Section for Volleyballers

Bud Giannini, coach of the Monessen Turners volleyball team, was surprised last weekend when a cheering section developed for his club at the Baltimore Invitational Tournament. It turned out that several Monessen people, visiting in Baltimore, read of the tourney and turned out to cheer for the home-towners. One of the Monessen fans was Dave Dilegge, former Greyhound basketball star who is now in the Maryland school system . . . Incidentally Giannini was impressed by the size of the Baltimore Armory, scene of the tourney. No less than five games were staged at one time! . . . John Kaminsky, former basketball player at Redstone High, is a standout member of the Fourth Armored Group basketball team in Frankfurt, Germany.

* * *

The past season was certainly a good one for Penn State products in the National Pro Football League. Lenny Moore was named rookie of the year, Chuck Drazenovich was picked as the most valuable member of the Washington Redskins, and Rosey Grier was selected as a defensive tackle on the 1956 all-star team . . . Charleroi's John Beatty, 6-4, will be at a starting forward spot for the Bucknell basketballers tomorrow night against Pitt at the Field House. Beatty has been a three-year regular with the Bisons and has been the big star so far this season, leading his quint to seven wins in eight games.

'All Tough,' Claims Charleroi Coach

"They're all tough," observes Charleroi coach Henry Pennline of Section 5 opposition. "Any one of them can take us on any given night, but we would have to have an exceptionally bad night." . . . Ted Haluch, the basketball coach at Alliance College, is a Donora native. He graduated from DHS in 1943, then colleged at Alliance. He returned to his Alma Mater in 1954 as cage boss . . . The Viaduct basketballers in the City League have sporty new outfits. The togs are black, with red letters and a white stripe down the trunks. To complete the sartorial splendor, the Viaduct cagers all have crew cuts.

Russell Learning to Get Tough with Pros

By OSCAR FRALEY

NEW YORK (UP) — Big Bill Russell was discovering today that in professional basketball you have to be rough, tough, and nasty.

The 6-foot, 10-inch Olympic star wasn't exactly a sensation in his Madison Square Garden debut as a pro He was rocked and socked as his Boston Celtics lost a 113-102 decision to the New York Knickerbockers.

"Willie" was simply too polite On the few occasions when he knocked down Harry Gallatin, Russell reached down and helped his floored opponent to his feet. On the numerous occasions when the situation was reversed, Harry the Horse merely grinned in wicked satisfaction.

More Of Same

And when Gallatin was on the bench, Sweetwater Clifton dished up much more of the same to Russell.

"Sweets" had to find out the hard way himself when he first came up that you aren't courteous on the cash court. They almost ran him out of the league, as they have dozens of others.

"Get tough," ranted Joe Lapchick, then coach of the Knicks. "Get tough or get lost."

So the next time he was bounced, Sweets replied with a fistfull of knuckles and has kept them ready ever since.

It's a lesson they all must learn to survive among the rugged pros. These guys are not impressed by Russell's Olympic and All-American clippings. Each one of them has a fat scrapbook of his own Not that anyone believes Russell will be put out of the basketball business. This was only his 10th pro game and he had been highly impressive on defense with 201 rebounds in his first nine contests.

Better Than Expected

"He has done far better than we expected," said Boston Coach Red Auerback. "He's a great player and gives us the rebound strength we needed."

Eddie Gottlieb, owner of the Philadelphia Warriors, who complained about Russell's "goaltending," also feels that the former San Francisco star is a potential great.

But Russell no longer is the laughing boy who kept the Olympic team in stitches. He is tight-lipped and laconic, speaks reluctantly and obviously is feeling his way cautiously.

"These guys all exceed my expectations," he said tersely. "They are all good."

Rostraver Loses at Hurst

Leps Drop 55-51 Tilt In Sec. 10

Rostraver High basketballers, shackled by numerous fouls, dropped a 55-51 verdict at Hurst last night in Section 10 competition.

Both teams now have 1-1 league records.

Coach George Everett's Leps matched the winners in field goals, each quint hitting for 17.

However the home team made 21 of 41 foul attempts while the Leps hit on 17 of 26.

But the fouls hurt Rostraver in another respect, too. Reginald Hatten, Dick Shaffer and Willie Allen all fouled out in the second half.

Ruin Hopes

Those losses ruined any Rostraver hopes of overtaking Hurst.

Dick Jurkowski led the victors with 24 points. His sharpshooting kept the Canes ahead all the way.

Richard Cloherty was high for Rostraver with 13 points Shaffer chipped in with 11.

In the Junior Varsity game, Rostraver lost by a 44-38 score.

Tigers Reject $250,000 Offer For Al Kaline

CHICAGO (UP)— The Chicago White Sox' "offer" of $250,000 for batting star Al Kaline of the Detroit Tigers was rejected today with the observation by Tiger officials that the Sox were just having "a little fun."

Tiger President Fred Knorr said in Detroit that the Chicago bid was "$150,000 behind what Kansas City offered for Kaline last year."

But Sox Vice President Chuck Comiskey insisted he was serious in making the Tigers this bid for Kaline, the 1955 American League batting champion: A straight $250,000 in cash, or two outfielders, two pitchers, and cash.

Comiskey said the trade offer was made because Detroit apparently "was having difficulty getting him (Kaline) to sign." He said the White Sox felt Kaline would be "attractive" in the number four position in the Sox batting order.

Detroit did not give a "cold out and out no" to the proposal, Comiskey said, but instead expressed enough interest in the players offered that another deal might be worked out in the near future.

At Detroit, Tigers' President Fred Knorr commented on the offer at the clubs' annual party for newsmen.

"I think we can give Mr. Comiskey an out-and-out 'no'," said Knorr.

Three Games in City League on Tap Tonight

City League basketball action will resume tonight at the Junior High gym with a triple-header card.

The big tussle will pair second place Viaduct against third place Big Five.

The Big Five boys are still humming over their overtime loss to the undefeated Cro-Ams last week. If they show the same spark, they just might shock the defending champion Viaduct cagers.

Coach Bucky Lutes Viaduct dribblers dropped their opening game to the Cro-Ams, but they've won eight straight since then. A victory tonight over improved Big Five will keep them within a game of the front runners.

Other tussles this evening will send East End against the Yellow Jackets at 7 and S-L against the pace-setting Cro-Ams at 9.

The league-leading Cro-Ams are expected to handle S-L without trouble.

Brownies Beat Donora, 60 to 56

Brownsville staved off a late Donora rush to score a 60-56 basketball win in Section 5 play last night.

The host Brownies once accumulated a 16 point lead in the second half. However the spirited Dragons fought back and almost pulled even in the closing moments.

Bob Chuey, Brownsville's best scorer, tallied 16 points even though he fouled out of the game with four minutes to play.

Top scoring honors, though, went to Donora's speedy Dave Russell, who tallied 28.

Slater Martin New Hawk Coach

ST. LOUIS (UP)— The smallest player in professional basketball, Slater (Dugie) Martin, took over as coach of the St. Louis Hawks today, replacing Red Holzman who resigned two days ago.

Martin, who stands only 5-feet 10-inches, was named to pilot the Hawks for the rest of this season, by owner Ben Kerner late Tuesday.

"Martin is the coach for this year," Kerner said. "But I will decide on the coach for next season after the end of the current season, probably in April."

Dayton Uses Zone To Upset Canisus

By UNITED PRESS

The zone defense, outlawed by the pros and bitterly criticized by some college coaches, turned up today as a key factor in basketball's latest major upset — Dayton's 65-58 victory over 11th-ranked Canisius.

North Carolina, the nation's No. 2 team, and fourth-ranked Southern Methodist each survived a rugged test to gain its 12th victory of the season Tuesday night.

But Canisius, tagged with only its second loss in 12 starts, ran up against the first zone defense used by a Dayton team in the 10-year coaching reign of Tommy Blackburn. After a see-saw first half that finally left host Dayton on top by 28-27, the strategy helped Dayton control the ball for most of the final 19 minutes to gain the upper hand.

Unbeaten North Carolina had to rally in the second half to beat William and Mary, 71-61, on the losers' court as Carolina star Lennie Rosenbluth was held to just one basket and a total of 10 points. William and Mary led, 28-26, at halftime but Carolina went ahead after 15 seconds of the second half and led the rest of the way, though never by much. Pete Brennan had 20 points and Joe Quigg 18 to make up for Rosenbuth for the Tar Heels.

SMU Tops Texas A&M

Once-beaten SMU ran into a zone defense manufactured by Texas A & M but fought to a 62-53 victory — compared to a 68-46 romp over the Aggies in the recent Southwest Conference tournament. The Aggies benched their usual tall team and started five short swifties in hopes of making the zone defense work, but they couldn't stop 6-8 center Jim Krebs of the Mustangs from scoring 30 points. George Mehaffey led the Aggies with 23.

California, ranked 19th nationally, beat Stanford for the first time since 1954, 59-45, although Stanford's Dick Haga salvaged scoring honors with 18 points.

In other leading games Tuesday night: Princeton tripped Columbia, 100-96.; in overtime in the Ivy League although Columbia's little Chet (The Jet) Forte scored 34 to set a Princeton court record; Texas downed Texas Christian, 85-76, in the Southwest Conference freshman Carl Sloan's 18 points led Richmond to a 56-50 win over Virginia; Lee Marshall's 35 points, including four free throws in the final minutes, gave Washington & Lee a 72-69 win over Citadel in the Southern Conference.

West Virginia Beats Pitt

Warren Buehler's 28 points paced Georgetown (D C) in an 85-61 rout of George Washington; Niagara trounced Morehead, 97-74; Holy Cross edged Rhode Island, 72-66; West Virginia nipped Pittsburgh, 89-86; St. Francis (N.Y.) routed Brooklyn College, 89-67; and Harvard beat MIT, 76-60; and Santa Clara took first place in the California Basketball Association by upsetting San Francisco, last year's national champion, 51-47.

But the game of the night was at Altoona, Pa. — Potomac St. (W.Va.) vs. Penn State's Altoona branch. The fans were there; the sports writers were there. Only people missing were the teams. Seems the game had been rescheduled a month ago.

"I guess we forgot to tell anybody," admitted an Altoona official.

Fans and teams are both expected to be on hand for feature games tonight, however, when Louisville, the nation's No. 5 team visits Memphis State and St. Louis, ranked 15th, hosts Wichita in a Missouri Valley Conference scrap.

Hounds Have No Trouble Rolling To Section 5 Win

Monessen High's hot-shooting basketballers swamped Bellmar, 64-44, at the cramped Hurricane gym, last night for their 36th straight win in Section 5 play over a four year period.

The success was much easier than anticipated. The Hounds bolted off to a 19-3 lead in the first period and there was never much doubt about the outcome after that.

Supposedly the tight Bellmar floor was to offer the pint-sized Hounds real trouble. Instead, the Monessen boys enjoyed by far their best shooting night of the season.

They hit on 24 of 54 field goal attempts for 45 per cent gunning.

In contrast, the Canes had an "off" night. They made just 11 of 51 tries from the field for 21 per cent accuracy.

Below Par

The Bellmar basketballers were far below par in other respects, too. Time and again they lost the ball on careless passes and other mistakes.

Dick DiBiaso, 6-1 junior, turned in his finest game of the year for the Hounds, hitting for 17 points Carl Crawley, 6-0, senior, had a like number.

For the losers, hard-working John Hewitt, 5-11 senior, came through with 15

The game was decided in the very first period, That's when the Hounds stepped off to a 19-3 lead.

The hapless Canes missed 11 straight field goal attempts during the opening stanza. And it wasn't until two minutes had elapsed in the second quarter that Jim Campbell eventually ripped the cords for a two-pointer for the home team.

MHS Way Ahead

At intermission the Hounds' were ahead, 35-16. And they were out of reach at 51-30 going into the fourth quarter. The score was simply never close.

Oddly enough, the Canes managed to tally almost as many points as the Hounds over the final three periods. They did this with some superlative foul shooting, making 22 of 33 attempts Monessen cashed in on 16 of 26 charity tosses

The win gave Monessen a 2-0 record in current Section 5 play The Hounds overall season record is now 7-4.

Bellmar sustained its second straight league loss.

Monessen will resume league competition on Friday, playing host to California.

BOWLING

By JOE JANNOTTA

In Monday's column, we considered the symbols used to score a bowling game. Now let's get into the actual technique.

If all the pins are knocked down with the first ball in a frame, it is a strike and you mark an (x) in the small box in the upper right hand corner of the frame on the scoresheet. If two balls are needed to knock down all the pins in one frame, mark an (/) in the small box.

The strike gives the bowler ten plus the total number of pins knocked down with the next two balls. The spare gets the bowler ten plus the total pinfall on the next ball.

Atual Number

If the bowler fails to knock down all the pins with both balls in one frame, mark an (—) in the small box of the frame. All that is added to the score is the actual number of pins knocked down by both balls.

When a bowler fails to knock down all the pins on his first ball, make a note of the number he did knock down.

In Friday's column, we'll score a game, complete with illustrations

Niccolai Is 'Reassigned' Grid Coach

Will Pilot Monessen Footballers Again During 1957 Season

Armand Niccolai, Monessen High football coach since 1947, was "reassigned" for the 1957 season during a meeting of the School Board last night.

In Monessen, no athletic coaches work under contracts. All are "assigned" from year to year.

Niccolai's selection was not unanimous. Two directors — Nick Cullen and Romeo Furio — voted no.

As a matter of fact, Cullen started things by making a negative motion that Niccolai NOT be retained. Furio seconded the motion.

However the other four directors present voted against the motion. They were Dr. Joseph Dudas, Perry Cozza, Alex Kachmarik and John Lancas. One director was absent, John Kossar.

Dr. Dudas Makes Motion

Immediately Dr. Dudas motioned that Niccolai be assigned for the coming season. Kachmarik seconded and the motion carried, four to two.

Cozza, speaking for the majority, said that Monessen has had good teams under Niccolai.

"If Mr. Niccolai had the full effort of all his assistants, these teams might have been better," said Cozza. "There seems to be a lack of harmony on the staff. It seems some of the assistants want the head coaching job. To me there is dissension on the staff and some of the assistants don't even speak to Niccolai."

Cullen Opposed

Cozza's remarks brought a reply from assistant coach Joe Gladys, who was a spectator at the meeting. Gladys pointed out that Cozza's remarks had "serious implications" and he asked the veteran school director to mention names.

Cozza declined to do so.

Cullen said he opposed Niccolai because "his type of football has not produced the teams Monessen should have and also because of the drop in attendance."

There have been rumors in the past that Niccolai was under fire. However last night's vote was the first formal indication that he had opposition on the School Board.

Niccolai, former Duquesne University and Pittsburgh Steeler great, has coached ten Greyhound teams, winning the Big Six titles three times.

His clubs have won 57 games, while losing 37 and tying four.

Niccolai has always been highly respected, even by his critics, as a "gentleman."

His football coaching salary will be the same as last season — $1,500.

Snider Signs With Dodgers For $41,000

NEW YORK (UP) — Brooklyn Dodger slugger Duke Snider had a brand new $41,000 contract today and the boss' best wishes "to edge out teammate Roy Campanella as the National League's most valuable player."

"Every other year is supposed to be Campy's year," said Dodger President Walter O'Malley after Snider, National League home run champion, telephoned his acceptance of the new pact from Fallbrook, Calif. "But this year I'd like to see the Duke edge him out for the award."

Snider never has won an MVP award although he finished a close second to Campanella in the 1955 voting.

The 30-year-old Snider's batting average dipped under the .300 mark to .292 last season but the free-swinging centerfielder nevertheless swung the biggest bat of all the Dodgers. He whacked out 43 homers to lead the league for the first time in his career and was the circuit's runnerup in slugging with .598, runs scored with 112, total bases with 324 and doubles with 33. In addition, he knocked in 101 runs.

Other News

The Cincinnati Redlegs, St. Louis Cardinals and Chicago Cubs provided other winter news on the baseball front.

The Redlegs announced that they have sent outfielder Stan Palys to Nashville of the Southern Association and that outfielder Jerry Lunch and pitcher Russ Meyer were declared fit after physical examinations by club physician Dr. George Ballou.

The Cardinals brought their list of satisfied players to 42 with the addition of outfielder Chuck Harmon, catcher Gene Greene and pitchers Frank Barnes and Ted Wieand. The Cardinals' unsigned players include Stan Musial and outfielder Wally Moon.

The Cubs announced that first-baseman Dee Fondy and infielder Ed Winceniak had agreed to terms.

Fullmer Given Pittsburgh Offer

PITTSBURGH (UP) — Newly crowned middleweight champion Gene Fullmer has been offered a $7,500 guarantee by Promoter Ben Anolik to meet Wilf Greaves in a 10-round non-title bout here on Feb. 28. Fullmer also has been offered 30 percent of the gate as an alternative to the $7,500 guarantee. After winning the title last Wednesday night, Fullmer said he hoped to have a couple of non-title bouts before defending in either June or September.

Folley Takes in Bethea Tonight

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (UP)—Heavyweight Zora Folley goes hunting for his seventh straight win and Wayne Bethea seeks revenge for a one-point loss tonight in their nationally-televised 10 - round return bout at War Memorial Auditorium.

New Yorker Bethea wants to overturn his split decision loss to Folley, of Chandler, Ariz and the odds makers, who installed Bethea as an early 6-5 favorite, seem to think the 24-year-old Wayne has the staying power to do it.

The win moved Folley into 10th ranking as title contender replacing Bethea.

Folley has the more impressive win record, 27-2-1, with 18 wins by knockouts; Bethea's record, 13-5-2, includes six wins by knockouts.

West Virginia Nips Pitt Quintet, 89-86

By UNITED PRESS

West Virginia's Mountaineers in general and Hot Hundley in particular staged a second half comeback Wednesday night to down the Pitt Panthers on their home court, 89-86.

The Panthers rallied in the final minutes to close a 12-point gap but the buzzer sounded with West Virginia in the lead.

Hundley connected with 13 field goals and six fouls to pace the scoring with 32 points. Sophomore guard Don Hennon led the Panthers with 29 points and Clayce Kishbaugh pumped in 25 points for West Virginia.

Pitt opened with a six point lead and the Mountain men were never able to move ahead during the first half at the end of which Pitt led, 43-42. But five minutes after the midway marker, Pitt's career high scorer, Bob Lazor, was charged with three personal fouls and was sent to the bench.

Kishbaugh and Hundley combined for three points to set the Mountaineers ahead, 44-43, to stay.

Full Press

Pitt went into a full-court press with 2½ minutes to play and narrowed the deficit before the clock ran out.

Slippery Rock held off a desperate John Carroll rally to earn an 80-78 triumph on its home court. The Rockets had a 13 point edge when the John Carroll surge began in the final seven minutes.

In other games, Clarion defeated Alliance, 83-69, Grove City beat Allegheny, 83-74, Indiana Teachers topped Lock Haven, 63-57, Marietta beat California Teachers, 75-59, and Thiel defeated Edinboro, 90-66.

On tonight's card, Penn State plays host to Temple, Geneva is at Carnegie Tech and Washington & Jefferson goes to Waynesburg.

Ukraine Unrest Threatens Iron Curtain Talks

LONDON (UP) — Moscow talks between Communist China and the Soviet Union on Iron Curtain unity were reported complicated today by unrest in the Ukraine and a "crisis" in Sino-Soviet relations.

Diplomatic reports reaching London hinted an intensive campaign was underway in the traditionally restive Ukraine to stamp out "titoism" among intellectual groups there.

A Canadian correspondent reported in Hong Kong after a trip to Red China that a "crisis" had developed in relations with Russia because Peiping "fiercely resents dependence on Russia."

No Hint of Trouble

Reports from Moscow and Peiping on the talks between Chinese Communist Premier Chou En-Lai and leaders of the Soviet government and Communist Party gave no hint of any trouble.

Peiping Radio broadcast a plea today for Iron Curtain unity behind the leadership of Soviet Russia but remained silent on the right or wrong of Moscow's bloody policies of repression in Hungary and Poland.

Peiping's broadcast of an editorial in the official Peiping Peoples Daily left the door open, by implication, to the possible roe of Peiping as mediator in the satellites demand for greater freedom.

But Peiping's emphasis upon unity over freedom made it clear the Peiping regime would support the Soviet in any showdown with the Eastern European countries.

Bulganin Thanks Chou

Soviet Premier Nikolai Bulganin Tuesday thanked Chou for his government's support of Soviet policy in the Hungarian freedom fighting and Chou responded that "unity within the Communist Party itself and among the Communist parties in various countries is the most vital guarantee of the victory of our common cause of Communism."

Peiping Radio emphasized this again today.

This sentiment received a boost Tuesday night from East Germany before a delegation left Moscow for Peiping after a series of talks here. The East German delegation gave its full approval to the revival of hard-fisted Stalinism.

State of Union Message Will Be Modernized

WASHINGTON (UP)—President Eisenhower will deliver a new-style State of the Union message to Congress Thursday—much shorter and more generalized.

White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty said today that Mr Eisenhower will include only a few major legislative recommendations in the State of the Union message.

The bulk of his detailed legislative requests will be included in the budget, which goes to Congress Jan 16, and in a series of subsequent messages on specific subjects.

In past years the State of the Union message has contained a fairly itemized section dealing with a series of specific subjects.

The White House said Mr. Eisenhower feels that detailed legislative recommendations more properly belong in the budget.

Mr. Eisenhower has long felt that the State of the Union message has been too unwieldy. He did not deliver his message in person last year because he was still recuperating from the effects of a heart attack. But the year before that it took him nearly one hour to present the message to a joint session of Congress.

Egypt's Deportation Of Jews Threatened

WASHINGTON (UP)—The United States has protested at least four times to Premier Gamal Abdel Nasser against Egypt s deportation of Jews, officials disclosed today.

The latest protest was made to Nasser last week in Cairo by U S Ambassador Raymond Hare, who has been arguing against anti-Jewish activities in Egypt for more than six weeks.

The State Department believes that more than 4,000 Jews a ready have "left" Egypt since the attack on Egypt by Israeli, British and French forces Most of these were deported But some left Egypt on their own initiative believing that they would have to do so sooner or later any way.

Egypt's pre-invasion Jewish population was estimated at between 40 000 and 45 000. Egypt had tolerated and respected its Jewish citizens for many years Most were middle class bankers and merchants.

During the last two weeks or so, officials said, there have been indications that Nasser may be "slowing down" on recent anti-Jewish moves. Orders for some deportations have been reversed following appeals, and some Jews being deported have not had their property sequestered as was the case earlier.

Officials said the United States would be "alarmed" so long as any Jews are being uprooted and ousted from Egypt for unjust reasons.

Nasser insisted from the beginning that there was no massive deportation of Jews. He acknowledged that some Jews were being deported for "specific reasons."

But arrival of nearly 1 000 Jews in Italy this week confirmed the suspicions of officials that more Jews are being ousted than Nasser wants to admit.

New TV Set To Cost More, Producer Says

CHICAGO (UP)—A new TV set is going to cost more this year, because manufacturers think the public is getting "too good a bargain."

The statement was made today by Leonard Truesdell, vice-president of Zenith Radio Corp., at a conference held in conjunction with the International Home Furnishings Market.

Truesdell said the industry has made many mistakes in its "wild adolescence."

The 1956 inventories were too high and the production level too fast, said the executive As a result the industry has lost so much profit that 17 companies were forced to combine with others or to go out of business entirely.

Truesdell criticized the continued advertising of lower priced merchandise and the lack of good retail demonstration.

Manufacturers have forgotten, he said, that the American public is both willing, and because of the strong economy, financially able to buy better merchandise.

Color TV will be an "evolution rather than a revolution," Truesdell stated At no time will there be a large and sudden shift from black-and-white to color.

Calls for New State Constitution

HARRISBURG (UP) — Sen Israel Stefel (D-Philadelphia) has introduced the first proposal in the 1957 Legislature for a convention to rewrite Pennsylvania's 83 year-old Constitution.

Stefel proposed that the delegates to such a convention convene at Harrisburg Jan. 7, 1958 to rewrite the state's basic law The delegates would be chosen at the 1957 general election — three from each of the state's 30 congressional districts and 15 to be elected at-large.

The bill would appropriate $500-000 for the payment of salaries and expenses of the convention If the convention drew up a new Constitution, it would be submitted to the voters of the state at a general referendum.

Sets New All-time High

WASHINGTON (UP)—National income climbed to a record annual rate of $343 5 billion in the third quarter of last year.

The Commerce Department reported Monday night the income rate for the July - August - September quarter was $5 billion higher than in the previous three months and $15 billion higher than in the comparable period of 1955.

However, the department said that while national income hit new highs in each of the first three quarters of 1956, the rate of gain was somewhat smaller than in 1955.

It attributed this to the fact that the economy had completed its recovery from the 1953 business dip and had moved on to a period of "sustained high-level activity."

The department said most major industries reported bigger incomes in the first nine months of 1956 than in the previous year while more than half of them maintained their 1954-55 rates of gain. But autos and steel fell off the previous year's pace.

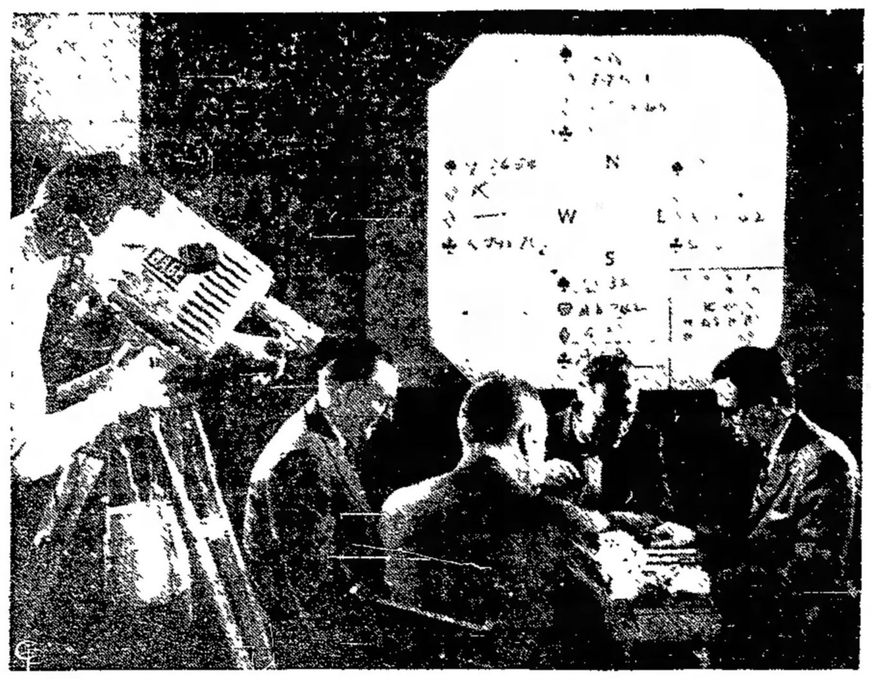
Free Flags at Inaugural Parade

WASHINGTON (UP) — If you are standing east of 15th Street during President Eisenhower's inaugural parade Jan. 21, you may get a free flag.

The inaugural committee announced today it will distribute 26,000 six-inch long flags to parade onlookers to "add color and festiveness to the occasion." The flags will be red and white and bear a picture of an American eagle.



MILLIONS OF KIBITZERS FOR WORLD BRIDGE PLAY — Here's how millions of kibitzers can get in on the final hour of the week-long world bridge tourney in New York. Play begins Jan. 11. The "preview" shows how the TV cameras will look at the game and flash it on the screen.

Ike's Inaugural Committee Has Many, Varied Problems

By PATRICIA WIGGINS

WASHINGTON (UP) — With less than two weeks left to prepare for President Eisenhower's second-term swearing in, the inaugural committee today wrestled with a variety of problems, including:

—"Road-testing" an elephant.
—Too many Uncle Sams.
—Not enough ticket sales.

Lagging ticket sales especially concerned the inaugural committee. A spokesman said today ticket booths will be opened soon in downtown Washington department stores and in five American Automobile Association offices in an effort to boost business.

The committee also sent out a request to local businessmen to "keep prices at normal levels" during the three-day celebration beginning Jan. 20 so visitors will leave town with "a complete feeling of friendliness."

Show New Program

The official inaugural souvenir program was unveiled Monday. It boasts on its front cover portraits by artist Norman Rockwell of President Eisenhower and Vice President Richard M. Nixon. On the back is the President's 1953 inaugural prayer. Both covers are "highly suitable for framing."

The souvenir program is loose-leaf notebook size and priced at $1 (10 cents additional for mailing). It carries the full schedule of inaugural events, biographies of President and Mrs. Eisenhower and Vice President and Mrs. Nixon, and a history of past inaugural events, biographies of President and Mrs. Eisenhower and Vice President and Mrs Nixon and a history of past inaugural events

Meantime, it was announced that 32 state governors have accepted invitations to the inaugural. Seven governors have "respectfully declined" — chiefly because of "pressing business" in the state capitals. Nine haven't R S V P'd yet.

New Jersey's Gov. Robert Meyner said he will be unable to attend because of his forthcoming marriage to Helen Stevenson, a distant relative of unsuccessful Democratic presidential candidate Adlai Stevenson. Those with less romantic reasons were the governors of Pennsylvania, New York, Mississippi, Washington, New Mexico, and Kansas.

Needing no invitations were the 2,000 boy scouts, girl scouts and campfire girls signed up for duty as parade ushers; messengers; ticket collectors; aides at first aid stations; and car door openers for dignitaries arriving at inaugural balls.

Road Test Elephant

From parade committee chairman Edward R. Carr came a ruling that "Miss Burma"—the semi-official Republican elephant — must be "road-tested" to be sure she can maintain the 120-pace per minute rate of march before he will okay her entry in the inaugural parade.

Confident owner Jack Mills of Mills Brothers Circus planning to test "Miss Burma" at the Circus' Cleveland, Ohio, winter headquarters, got a polite "no thanks" when he invited Carr to join Burma in a "walkathon."

Carr also is working out difficulties with the 40 members of the Buffalo, N. Y. Uncle Sams Club who have threatened to march in the parade "if we have to shoot our way." Carr hopes to forestall any shooting. But since he's promised to cut the parade length, he can't see how more than a half-dozen of the tall-hat marchers can participate.

Wants Assembly To Meet Yearly; Introduces Bill

HARRISBURG (UP)—A greybeard among proposed legislation has been introduced in the House by Rep. Norman Wood (R-Lancaster) calling for annual sessions of the General Assembly.

Wood's bill would throw out the present procedure of meeting only in odd numbered years. The bill, a hardy perennial often introduced but always sidetracked along the route, would not allow the Assembly to enact any laws other than those pertaining to revenue or appropriations during the even number years.

House Republicans John H Moody (Dauphin) and Carl M Barton (Perry) authored a bill designed to eliminate a recurrence of a New Year's Day opening session such as the Assembly had this year.

The pair proposed to amend the state Constitution and set opening day back 24 hours when the first Tuesday of January also falls on New Year's Day.

U. S. May Give Loan to Poland

The sources also said U.S. officials have indicated to Poland they would be willing to discuss some other points which might lead to closer ties between the two countries.

Higher Pork Prices Expected This Year

WASHINGTON (UP)—The Agriculture Department said today consumers will pay higher prices for pork and possibly higher grades of beef this year than during 1956.

Total 1957 meat production is expected to be less than the 1956 record, the department said in its publication, "The Livestock and Meat Situation." Production probably will be cut heaviest in the first half of the year, with most of the reduction in pork.

The department said farm prices of hogs, which had advanced $2.50 per 100 pounds in late December from their mid-November low, may strengthen somewhat more this winter.

A downturn is probable when marketings from the fall pig crop are largest. A new seasonal upturn, however, is likely in the spring. Prices of hogs during most of 1957 likely will be above 1956.

The price situation for both consumers and producers stems from the supply of hogs. The 1956 fall pig crop was down 4 per cent, and producers planned Dec. 1 to reduce the spring crop 2 per cent. This indicates that hog slaughter during most or all of 1957 will remain below 1956. The department said that by year's end, the difference will be small.

By the end of 1956, hog slaughter was substantially less than the previous year. On Dec. 1, the number of good butcher hogs was almost one-fifth less than a year before, and the reduction on Jan. 1 probably was about the same.

The department said farm prices for cattle in 1957 will remain close to those of a year ago. Cattle slaughter has been extremely large because many cattle were put on feed early and marketing for young cattle was speeded, in contrast with delayed marketing last winter, and lack of feed forced larger marketings from drought areas.

Warn Motorists To Wear Chains

PITTSBURGH (UP)—Public safety officials warned today that motorists operating vehicles with smooth tires and no chains on slippery streets will be charged with reckless driving.

"Such motorists are jeopardizing the lives and property of other people," Public Safety Director Louis Rosenberg said. Rosenberg said operating a car on slippery streets without proper safety equipment comes under reckless driving provisions of the State Motor Code.

Depression Fashions Shaping Today's Lines

By GAY PAULEY

NEW YORK (UP)—Fashions of the depression 30s now shape the shape of the prosperous 50s.

Designers have turned for inspiration to the years of the bread lines for spring, 1957, clothes lines. One industry source explained there is a logical reason why the 30s trend dominates in clothes which this week will be shown 200 reporters from the United States and Canada.

Sponsor of the semi-annual shows, by 40 leading designers and manufacturers, is the couture group of the New York Dress Institute.

Reflect State of Mind

Eleanor Lambert, spokesman for the group, said the era when "prosperity is just around the corner" has much in common with the "peace in our time" sentiment today. Both were jittery periods and clothes reflect a national state of mind Let us get a case of nerves, and fashion becomes simpler. Clothes become extravagant when there is no unrest.

This spring, every way a woman turns she will se ethe influence of such great designers of the 30s as Chanel, Mainbocher, and Molyneux. New suits, for instance, are as casual and easy-fitted as if Chanel herself had turned them out.

The leather-belted suit is back with the belt sometimes circling the skirt rather than the jacket. The silhouette in general has a sharper outine, through the unobtrusive squaring of shoulders, necklines and yokes.

Some other trends from the collections being shown this week:

Coats usually button, rather than wrap. The waistline returns to normal replacing 1956's high-riding empire.

Skirts for day-time are an inch or so longer than last spring, and the couture group said the "demi-length," or near the ankles, is the top trend for evening. The majority of daytime skirts are slim. Tunics abound. Dresses with low backs, and high fronts, show in all collections.

Fabrics, even tweeds, stress lightness of weight. Patterned fabrics run throughout the collections, featuring everything from stripes to polka dots to flowers. In color, the favorite daytime "basics" are pale grey and beige; black and navy are used, but not starred.
